VALUES AND LIFESTYLES

The Interamerican Youth Forum set out by basing its analysis on the Region's Educational Proposal, for which we express our support and our full adherence to the values expressed therein.

- THE RELATIONSHIP WITH ONESELF

We consider the values Scouting proposes to be essential for making a life plan, since we believe that by acquiring and developing these values, it is possible to make a change for the better in the individual.

In the light of this we make the following recommendations:

- 1- That the national associations reinforce the practice of these values, using them to update their advancement plans to cover all the areas of development of a young person.
- 2- Provide young people with all the possible support and opportunities to develop holistically and be able to take their projects forward.

- THE RELATIONSHIP WITH OTHERS

We are young people who seek to leave the world better than we find it and this is only possible through committed action on the part of each one of us.

Our understanding is that Scouting educates young people in solidarity, such that they develop an attitude of service towards others, acknowledging and accepting the inherent right of the individual to freely express their ideas and, through dialogue, find ways to undertake joint action.

In the light of this, and with a view to reinforcing Scout values, the Interamerican Youth Forum makes the following recommendations:

- 3- To incorporate elements into the Scout programme which target leadership development to extend to the social dimension.
- 4- We express our absolute agreement with the principles of the Scout Movement, but we consider it necessary to update the way they are expressed. We therefore recommend to the national associations that:
 - a) They draw up their own Educational Proposal based on the Regional Educational Proposal.
 - b) They analyse their existing versions of the Law and Promise to express them in a modern and attractive way.
- 5- To promote the interaction of our young people with diverse social organizations so that they can become leaders, planners and executors of activities undertaken in conjunction.

- 6- To make a special effort to incorporate into the Scout Movement - in terms of the WOSM World Constitution - individuals with some type of physical or mental impediment, or who suffer discrimination by reason of their origins, race, religious beliefs or social situation, since we are convinced that through the scout programme it is possible to overcome or alleviate the aspects which lead to their exclusion.
- 7- That the associations direct their best efforts at reaching the most economically disadvantaged sectors of society, since we consider that Scout education constitutes an effective way to combat poverty.

- THE RELATIONSHIP WITH THE WORLD

As individuals, we believe ourselves to be committed to defending the integrity of the environment, respect for all forms of life and progress.

We consider that the urgency of the current situation requires more than a passive acceptance of our responsibility. It requires serious action and perseverance in the search for solutions.

Nature is a part of us, and we have the same obligations to it as we have to other people.

We therefore make the following recommendations:

- 8- That the national associations encourage the development of diverse actions aimed at protecting and interacting with the environment, with a view to making the Scout Movement a protagonist and example in the field.
- 9- To encourage cooperation with other organizations in projects aimed at protecting the life and the dignity of individuals, contributing to the education of young people for commitment to creating a fairer society.

- THE RELATIONSHIP WITH GOD

We consider that the Scout Movement should promote spirituality and the presence of God at all times. The values to be highlighted in this context are: commitment, loyalty, responsibility, understanding, respect and free expression of faith.

In order to encourage commitment to and development of these values the Interamerican Youth Forum makes the following recommendations:

- 10- To promote respect and tolerance of different religious beliefs.
- 11- To provide young people with the information they need about different religions to avoid prejudice arising as a result of ignorance.
- 12- To make the Scout Movement the ideal context for young people to freely express and live their faith.

YOUTH PARTICIPATION IN DECISION-MAKING

The Forum ratified the policy on youth participation in decision-making, and developed proposals for improving the implementation of this policy in the Region.

The Interamerican Youth Forum recommends to the 20th Interamerican Scout Conference that it:

- 13- Revive the Youth Communications Network adopted by the participants of our Region at the VI World Youth Forum, the purpose of which is to exchange information and ideas.
- 14- Promote international cooperation among the associations of the Region, in order to encourage joint development and training projects.
- 15- Encourage the national associations to implement a training programme to improve their young people's participation and youth leadership.

- 16- To encourage the participation of youth members in all the Commissions of the Interamerican Scout Committee.
- 17- To encourage youth participation in all the decision-making processes in all the associations of the Region, by carrying out Youth Forums and other democratic instances.
- 18- To promote youth participation in the associations, with the right to speak and to vote in the decision-making structure.

8/98 Relative to the Summit of Chairpersons, Chief Commissioners and Executive Directors

The 20th Interamerican Scout Conference resolves:

- 1. To acknowledge the contribution made to this Conference by the participants in the Summit of Chairpersons, Chief Commissioners and Executive Directors, and have the the conclusions of this Summit included in the Report of this Conference.
- 2. To hold at the beginning of 1999 a further meeting of the Summit of Chairpersons, Chief Commissioners and Executive Directors and to commend the Interamerican Scout Committee to summon it and set date and venue for the meeting.

1/2004 Resolutions related to the Regional Objectives 2006-2008 Youth Programme

The Conference assumes that by the end of 2005 the process of preparing educational material that started in August 1996 will have been completed and that all the Sections will have available the basic educational material for the implementation of their Youth Programme.

In accordance with this assumption, the following objectives are approved for the period 2006-2008:

1. To revitalize the implementation of the Scout Method at the grass roots level, to have at least 50% of the Region's associations apply the tools of the Regional Youth Programme Policy in their entirety, and to evaluate the application of the educational material produced.

3. To produce complementary material at different levels for all the Sections and to prepare projects in the following fields of priority action: youth involvement; support to adolescents in their transition to adulthood; equal opportunities of growth and leadership for girls and boys, women and men; and outreach to all segments of society.
4. Maintain the Youth Network and increase its effectiveness as the means of promoting the World Policy on Youth Involvement, as adopted in 2002 by the World Scout Conference in Thessaloniki.
5. Encourage the Region's associations to implement the World Policy on Youth Involvement, as approved by them.

Human Resources

The Conference assumes that by late 2004 the material envisaged in the regional policy for the recruitment, training and follow-up of adult leaders will have been published in the three lines included in the strategy.

The Conference likewise assumes that by the end of 2005 the process of dissemination of the Regional Human Resources Policy will have been completed and that by that time the associations' leaders will have an adequate knowledge of this policy.

According to these projections, the following objectives are approved for the period 2006- 2008:

1. To step up the implementation of the Regional Human Resources Policy at the national and local levels, with at least 50% of the Region's associations applying the policy and its tools in their entirety.

3. To prepare complementary material and to put in place a variety of projects and actions to contribute to establishing a new concept of volunteering, to recruit and train a new type of volunteer and to design new ways to compensate the leaders for their work.

Institutional Development

The Conference assumes that by late 2005 the national associations will have an adequate knowledge of the Regional Institutional Development Policy, that enough material will have been published for the implementation of its various steps and that 50% of the associations will have applied it at least in part.

On this basis, the following objectives are approved for the period 2006-2008:

1. To improve the integrated implementation of the Regional Institutional Development Policy, with at least 50% of the Region's associations applying the policy in its entirety, at both the national and local levels.
2. 3. To intensify the action of the regional bodies in the field of communications, partnerships and resources, by developing specific initiatives, projects and tools to provide thrust and to help the national associations to improve their communications, step up their community involvement and increase their financial resources.
4. To maintain the regional policy of diversified fundraising, financing 50% of the regional budget with funds generated by regional action.
5. To support the regional and sub-regional youth events, ensuring that these reflect the Scout Method and the Regional Youth Programme Policy.
6. To have, by the end of 2008, the number of youth members of the Latin American and Caribbean associations increase by 15% with regard to the number of members they recorded at 31 December 2004.

2/2004 Specific Resolutions

The 22nd Interamerican Scout Conference resolves:

1. That the ISC send to the associations an annual report on the progress of the Regional Plan, also including the membership of the associations for the preceding six years.

The Conference resolves to hold a moment of silence at its Closing Session in memory of the victims, praying that their families may find hope and consolation.

1/2007 Chairpersons' Meeting

By virtue of the provisions of article 5a of the Constitution of the Interamerican Scout Organization, which stipulate that the Conference must stimulate the development of the Scout Movement in the Interamerican Region, by promoting the spirit of world-wide friendship, cooperation and mutual assistance between the members of the Interamerican Scout Organization, the NSOs attending the 23rd Interamerican Scout Conference in Quito, Ecuador agreed:

To include, as part of the proceedings of future Regional Conferences, a forum in which the most senior representatives of the NSOs and the regional bodies (for example, ISC members, Chairpersons, National Chief Scouts, Executive Directors and WSB-IR) can meet to interchange ideas and topics of common interest proposed in advance by them. This meeting shall be coordinated by the Interamerican Scout Committee.

2/2007 Surveys of Former Scouts

Bearing in mind that:

- The follow-up programmes conducted by the Region's NSOs should give consideration to the problem of falling numbers of Scout leaders and the need to know why they leave or drift away from Scouting in the respective organizations;
- Information from people who leave their NSOs, compiled through surveys, questionnaires and systems of indicators, could provide the NSOs with a range of important reasons for this loss and considerations in this regard;

We recommend that the NSOs of the Interamerican Scout Region prepare, to the best of their abilities, surveys of former leaders in order to gain systematic insight into the reasons they have left and thus take suitable measures to deal with the problem.

3/2007 Environment and Sustainable Development

Considering:

1. The alarming social and environmental situation in the countries of the Region;
2. That respect for the natural world is one of the fundamental principles of Scouting;
3. That the World Scout Conference declared in favour of emphasizing the need to raise the profile of ecological and environmental matters in youth programmes, adult training and in all the operations of the Organization, by carrying out activities related to environmental education and promoting cooperation with the World Wildlife Fund (WWF) and the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP);
4. That the World Scout Conference has adopted resolutions on the role of the environment in the Scout Method and the Scout Law and in the educational principles of Scouting, insisting on the need to improve and implement environmental education programmes, the Scouts of the World programme and the World Scout Conservation Award; as well as the need to set up a special task force to help NSOs to enhance the environmental education included in their youth programmes and generate sustainable activities and instill habits of responsible consumption at all levels;
5. That, regarding relations between the World Organization of the Scout Movement (WOSM) and the United Nations, the World Scout Conference has expressed full support for the objectives that resulted from the United Nations Millennium Declaration and the need to take steps at all levels to maintain and strengthen relations between the two organizations;
6. That over 90% of projects carried out by NSOs and presented at the Social Development Projects Fair at this Interamerican Scout Conference focus on environmental and sustainable development work;

We recommend:

1. Reaffirming the Interamerican Scout Organization's commitment to environmental protection and sustainable development by taking concrete action at all levels of the Organization, including:
 - The implementation and strengthening of the Scouts of the World Programme in the NSOs of the Interamerican Region;
 - The revitalization of the SCENES programme (Scout Centres of Excellence for Nature and Environment); and
 - The implementation of the Scout World Conservation Badge in line with the recommendations and modernization measures proposed by WOSM's task force on environmental education.
2. That the Interamerican Scout Committee (ISC), the World Scout Bureau – Interamerican Region (WSB-IR) and the Programme Network provide sufficient tools and support to set up a special task force and/or an Interamerican Scout Environmental Network, to develop new resources and materials, appointing a correspondent in each NSO to act as a liaison and representative.
3. That the NSOs create a special team devoted to implementing best practices in their national activities as regards good management of natural areas, the separation of waste materials, responsible consumption, the use of environmentally friendly materials, good use of water and energy and the implementation of environmentally low-impact activities.
4. That the steps taken by NSOs in relation to item 3. above be presented at the Social Development Projects Fair of the respective Conference.
5. That the ISC and WSB-IR review the proposal of the UNEP Regional Office for Latin America and the Caribbean in order to generate a cooperation agreement with that agency.

4/2007 Scouts of the World

- Considering that Scouting's Mission is to help young people to develop competences that help them to act and be involved in society;
- Considering that the Millennium Development Objectives formulated by the United Nations offer us the opportunity, today more than ever, to include topics of education for peace, development and the environment in our educational programme;
- Considering that the programme "Scouts of the World" represents an opportunity to improve the youth programme in the Venturer and Rover Sections;
- Bearing in mind resolution 11/05 on the World Youth Forum and resolution 23/05 on the formation of partnerships with the United Nations, adopted at the 37th World Scout Conference in Hammamet, Tunisia in 2005;
- Referring to recommendations 6 and 12 of the 9th Meeting of the World Youth Forum held in Hammamet, Tunisia in 2005;

We recommend that the ISC:

- Promote and encourage the implementation of the "Scouts of the World" programme in the Region's NSOs.
- Create a task force of young adults who are members of NSOs and who are interested in implementing the programme in the Interamerican Region.

5/2007 System of Development Indicators for National Scout Associations

Considering the resolutions adopted at the 5th Meeting of the Institutional Development Network held in Quito, Ecuador, we recommend:

- Requesting NSOs to adopt the system of indicators approved by the IDN and to use them as a management tool. The national representatives of the IDN within each NSO will likewise enhance the system of indicators appropriately for their respective Association.
- Requesting the regional authorities to allocate regional budget resources to implementing the indicators and providing support for national efforts.
- Urging NSOs to appoint and maintain a national IDN correspondent to work with the network coordinator and the WSB-IR support executive.

6/2007 Reading of Resolutions

Considering that:

- The Constitution of the Interamerican Scout Organization does not provide specific indications on the proceedings of the Interamerican Scout Conference;
- It is important to maintain a record and to ensure that the resolutions and agreements of the Interamerican Scout Conference are followed up;

We agree that the agenda of future Conferences will include a report from the Interamerican Scout Committee on follow-up and results of the resolutions approved at previous Regional Conferences.

7/2007 Headquarters of the World Scout Bureau – Interamerican Region

Considering discussions held at a meeting of delegates attending the 23rd Interamerican Scout Conference in Quito, Ecuador, to the effect that:

- The headquarters of the World Scout Bureau-Interamerican Region are located at one extreme of the Continent;
- The travel costs involved in reaching those headquarters present difficulties for some NSOs;
- The location affects most of the organizations' possibilities of attending working activities convened for implementing plans that contribute to the development of the Interamerican Region and its member organizations;

Further to Chapter III, article 15 of the Constitution of the Interamerican Scout Organization approved by the 19th Interamerican Scout Conference held in Cartagena de Indias, Colombia in September 1995, the 23rd Interamerican Scout Conference resolves that:

1. Considering:

- That Scouting around the world represents a social force;
- That participation in social development projects contributes decisively to the all- round education of children and young people in Scouting;
- That sharing the experiences of the Interamerican Region's NSOs in this area enables other associations to reproduce successful experiences and thus raise the profile of Scouting in their own country, also enhancing the educational programme for children and young people;
- That participation of the Interamerican Region's NSOs in the Social Development Projects Fair, organized on the occasion of the Interamerican Scout Conference, is not yet very numerous;

The 23rd Interamerican Scout Conference resolves:

- Faced with the imminent danger of a split within the World Organization of the Scout Movement as it stands today and given the historic responsibility of all members to promote the unity, protection and enlargement of the Movement and to apply their efforts to achieve the shared Vision, Mission and Objectives;
- Given that the management and implementation bodies must act professionally and transparently at all times and must report on their results to all their members in an official, comprehensive and timely manner through the established channels of communication;
- Given that the existence of obstacles and differences of opinion or points of view are healthy and important, providing that they are dealt with in an honest, cordial environment of constructive criticism and positive proposals, WITHOUT LOSING SIGHT OF OUR PURPOSE—to work for the education of children and young people in our countries;

The National Scout Organizations attending the 23rd Interamerican Scout Conference in Quito, Ecuador resolve:

10/13 Recognition in the Interamerican Policies, Actions, and Others, the Presence of Children in Our Region

Considering

- That the position and policies are lacking the concept of childhood, referring only to the youth, which does not take into account the needs of children in America.
- That childhood is clearly typed and is different to the concept of youth. The United Nations has defined on the Convention on the Rights of the Child. Adopted and opened for signature and ratification by the General Assembly in its resolution 44/25 of November 20, 1989, entered into force: September 2, 1990, in accordance with Article 49. (<http://www2.ohchr.org/spanish/law/crc.htm>)
- From this perspective the Scout documents relate only to the term young or youth which leaves bare this essential part of our movement, because we must take into account the difference in the needs of young people and children. So it should be implemented in the drafting of all documents in the American Region including the concept of childhood and youth as a whole, in respect to the uniqueness of belonging to age, gender and needs of each of the actors.

The Interamerican Scout Conference agreed:

- Henceforth the documentation must recognize, work efforts, policies and other the concepts of childhood as a vital space for boys and girls that live our program, with regards to the Convention on the Rights of the Child, therefore the term childhood and youth should always be included in all documents, as well as in projects and activities taking place in the region, that these deal with children and youth with full identification of the actors of the program.

The Interamerican Scout Conference,

- Recalling Article 7 of the Constitution of the Interamerican Scout Region, where one of the functions of the Conference is to stimulate the growth and development of the Scouting in the Region.
- Considering that Scouting's mission is to contribute to the education of young people through a system of values based on the Scout Promise and Law, and to help build a better world where people fully realize themselves as individuals and play a constructive role in society.
- Considering Resolution 5/2007 (Quito, 2007) of the Interamerican Scout Conference, which recommends the adoption of a system of development indicators for National Scout Organizations (NSOs) as a management tool to evaluate their performance,
- Considering Global Resolution 2014-11, on the Global Support Assessment Tool (GSAT) for measuring the quality and impact of NSOs in alignment with global standards,
- Taking note of the importance of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), as highlighted in World Resolution 2021-08, and the need for Scouting to demonstrate its contribution to these goals,
- Congratulating the existence of the WOSM Service for the Impact Assessment of Scouting, which provides a global framework for measuring the results of Scouting, and recognizing the importance of the document "From Intent to Impact: Introducing Impact of Scouting" (published in February 2024), which sets out guidelines for assessing the social and educational impact of Scouting,
- Applauding the best practices in social impact within and outside Scouting, especially the study "Merit Beyond the Badges" by Scouting America in collaboration with Baylor University in 2010, which demonstrated the impact of Scouting on developing leadership skills and values in young people, and Mexico's participation in the second phase of the World Scouting Impact Study (2018-2019), which highlighted the benefits of Scouting on the personal development of young people,
- Recognizing the need to hold events in the Inter-American Region focused on training NSO leaders to acquire impact assessment tools, following the example of other regions, such as Europe and Asia-Pacific, which have successfully implemented training programs in this area,
- Aware of the diversity of social, economic and cultural contexts in the Inter-American Region, which requires the adaptation of impact measurement tools to local realities,
- Convinced of the importance of generating impact studies that NSOs can use internally to attract new young people and volunteers, enhance volunteering and strengthen public perception of Scouting, in line with the new Strategy for Scouting,

Resolves:

- To request the Interamerican Scout Committee (ISC), with the support of the World Scout Bureau-Interamerica Support Centre (WSB-IASC), to lead efforts to implement the WOSM Service impact measurement tools in the Interamerican Region, adapting them to the local needs and cultural differences of the NSOs, taking as reference the document "From Intent to Impact : Introducing Impact of Scouting" and global best practices.
- Urge the ISC to develop a regional impact measurement framework before the next Interamerican Scout Conference, including quantitative and qualitative indicators to assess:
 - The personal development of young people (leadership skills, scouting values, emotional well-being).
 - Community impact (service projects, contribution to the SDGs).
 - Attracting and retaining volunteers (volunteering valorization).
- Request the ISC and WSB-IASC to organize regional or subregional events focused on training NSO leaders in the use of impact assessment tools, following the model of other regions and ensuring that trainings are accessible and culturally relevant.

- Urge the ISC to coordinate the publication of regional impact studies based on data collected by NSOs, which can be used by them to:
 - Recruit new young people and volunteers.
 - Valuing volunteering among communities and external allies.
 - Strengthen communication of the impact of the Scouting in the Region.
 - Request NSOs to integrate impact measurement tools into their national strategic plans.
- Request NSOs to allocate resources for training their leaders in impact assessment and data collection, ensuring their alignment with the new Strategy for Scouting.
